You are invited to the first PWI Electrical Forum!

Join us for two technical presentations and a panel discussion with perspectives from both industry and government.

PWI Electrical Forum

Join us for the first PWI Electrical Forum as we bring together the electrical community in the rail industry for knowledge sharing, strengthening relationships and supporting capability development.

The Forum will include two presentations by industry personnel focused on sharing key learnings from projects and how they impact our growing rail industry. The Forum will also feature a panel event with a mix of industry and government personnel to discuss modern issues faced in the rail sector.
